- Connects recognition to Chick-fil-A's people-first spirit and serving people at work with appreciation.
- Alludes to how people feel when a teammate goes the extra mile—they're filled with gratitude and want to share their appreciation.
- Encourages an uplifting culture where teams come together to celebrate their growth and inspire each other.
- Feels positive, wholesome, and fulfilling.

Our pleasure to appreciate

Two words live at the heart of everything we do—my pleasure. They motivate us to go above and beyond, treat people with respect, and be a positive influence. Now they're inspiring how we celebrate great work and show we care—with a lot of energy and enthusiasm. Welcome to our new recognition program, Full of Thanks.

Indra George

I'm so grateful for the positive energy you bring! The moment our guests walk in, you're right there ready to greet them and create a remarkable experience—you show genuine interest and build real relationships. And the best part is that they always leave with a smile on their face. It's little things like this that make people come back for more. Keep it up!

Alesha,
Not a lot of people would do what you did today, and I admire it greatly! Running for two blocks to catch up to a customer who left their wallet behind was inspirational and awesome. It's because of people like you who energize us to keep our customers at the heart of our work. Thanks for the laugh and the motivation!
